 - a. The results have not been published yet, please wait until the day after your class to check your results. (if they are published and nothing is entered, you will see a completion status of 0%)
 - b. You might have accidentally checked out as a guest when you registered. Please see Question 7 for how to backwards link to a mycouncil account.
8. I accidentally checked out as a Guest, how can I fix this to see the results? The system will identify and backwards link a registration to a mycouncil account through the email address entered for the participant. What this means, if you entered the scout’s email address under participant, you will need to create a new mycouncil account using the scout’s email address.
